WHITE MATES IN TWO MOVES.

The following game was played in the Buffalo Tournament and is an exposition of that form of chess, which shows the value of position, judgment and the force of taking advantage of minor opportunities. It is hard to tell just when Black's game is lost until it is irrevocable. The play does not call for annotation.

unbridled license of a sensational press or the red flag of the enemies of all organized society; and he is hereby further

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the death of one so honored both in his public and private career as William McKinley, one whose single ambition was the good of his country, one who safely, honorably and victoriously guided the ship of state through times of stress, both in peace and war, and who now, with Lincoln and Garfield, is the third of our nation's martyrs; and he is hereby further

Resolved, That we, here in distant Hawaii, share with our fellow citizens in all parts of the Union, the distress and sorrow that has fallen upon us; and that the thoughtful care and unselfish friendship entertained for these islands by our martyred President touches us deeply, and teaches us that not only has one passed away who was illustrious in the councils of the great world, but also one to whom the people of this Territory might at all times appeal to us, that unquestioning confidence inspired by sincere well-wishing; and he is hereby further

Resolved, That in this, her hour of bitterest affliction, we tender to the bereaved companion of his joys and sorrows our most heartfelt sympathy and condolences, and our sincere trust that Almighty God, in His profound wisdom, will sustain, soothe and guide her through the shadows of her bereavement until she rejoins him where, beyond these voices, there is peace; and he is hereby further

Resolved, That while William McKinley's true monument is already built in the love of the nation, yet we deem it proper that these resolutions should be spread upon the minutes of this Court, and that a duly attested copy thereof, suitably engrossed, be forwarded to the widow of our deceased President.
